Boneyard-Pool/Ice Rink Descent

The uphill on Boneyard is winding single track set within the pinyon/ juniper trees of East Eagle. The climb is fairly gradual, and flattens out around marker 3. The trail continues to climb, offering great views of Red Canyon and the Eagle River all the way to marker 5. After hiking on Bellyache for a short section between markers 5 and 6, the trail turns onto double track that begins an almost immediate descent on Pool/ Ice Rink. This section, between markers 7 and mile 4.5 is very steep and hikers should use caution. The trail flattens out at the base and then does a short climb up to Upper Kaibab area and then down to the Eagle Pool and Ice Rink, where the trail ends at the recreation path. This trail can be hiked in both directions but it is recommended that hikers begin at Boneyard.
